(d) if so , the details of the mechanism available; and

(e) if not, the time by which it is likely to be enforced?

Answer

THE MINISTER OF YOUTH AFFAIRS & SPORTS (SHRI SUNIL DUTT)

(a) The details of the funds allocated under various schemes for development of youth during 2004-05 have been indicated in Annexure-I.

No state-wise allocation of funds is made under any of the schemes.

(b) List of NGOs/Organisations who have been given grant- in-aid under the schemes during the last three years have been indicated at Annexure-II.
(c) A National Plan of Action under the National Youth Policy is being formulated in consultation with various stakeholders. A National Inter-ministerial Committee has been constituted to prepare this plan for empowerment of youth.
(d) The following schemes are being utilised for spreading awareness among the youth and improving their capabilities to face social and economic problems:

1. Nehru Yuva Kendras Sangathan (NYKS)

A large number of initiatives has been taken to strengthen Youth Clubs under NYKS. These include expanding their membership to cover adolescents, launching of Gandhi Gramodaya Sankalp Abhiyan introduction of the concept of Rural Connectivity through Information Technology, emphasis on Vocational Training etc. In this regard, convergence with other Ministries/Departments like Human Resource Development, Rural Development, Health and Family Welfare, Women and Child Development and Culture to promote youth development and their involvement in National development has been sought.

2.National Service Scheme

Under the scheme the spirit of social service is inculcated amongst the students. Currently the scheme is in operation in the Universities, Colleges and +2 councils of Senior Secondary Schools. Under the scheme, there are 15 Regional Centres, 14 Training and Orientation Centres (TOCs) and 4 Training, Orientation and Research Centres (TORCs).

3.Funding NGOs for youth development with special focus on adolescent

Adolescents have been recognised as a major segment under the National Youth Policy. The Ministry has formulated and launched a Scheme for Development and Empowerment of Adolescents, in the age group of 10-19 years. Under this scheme, non-governmental organizations, educational institutions etc. are being assisted to undertake projects and programmes relating to issues such as environment building, seminars and workshops, life skill education, counselling, career guidance, career melas, residential camps, research and technical resource development.

(e) Does not arise.
